* Do you dread going to conferences? And once you're there, do you lose interest within the first hour because of the monotonous surroundings?

* Are you tired of the same old dull conference venues where tea, coffee and tasteless sandwiches are the only attraction to get the life back into the conference you organised with such passion?

* Are you desperately searching for the answer to a successful conference venue that will be within your company's financial reach

LESEDI is a Sotho word that means "Light". And that is exactly what we want all our guests to see! LESEDI is a multi-cultural village set amongst the pristine bushveld and rocky hills - a mere 45 minutes' drive away from Sandton, Randburg and Pretoria. The villages represent five traditional homesteads - the Zulus with their fighting sticks and cozy beehive huts, the Xhosa with their perfectly thatched rondawels and distinctive white blankets, the rhythmic drums and whistles of the Pedi tribe, the conical straw hats and thick, colored blankets of the Basotho and the symmetrical architecture and beaded costumes of the Ndebele.
